Course objectives:

The aim of this course is to engage students with the topic of business and human rights and to allow students to acquire knowledge of the links between business practices and human rights, including corporate social responsibility. This course aims to develop the student's ability to assess the impact of human rights on corporate behaviour and to analyse business conduct in light of human rights law. The students will explore the relevance of human rights to business, the impact of business on human rights, State obligations, or the responsibility of business entities to respect human rights, including the extent to which multinational corporations have human rights responsibilities. The students will acquaint themselves with international and national legal instruments, recent legislative and policy developments, and relevant international and national jurisprudence in this field.
